Dear Danny:

On behalf of CASA of Travis County, we want to thank Fox 7 for the in-kind media donation valued at $51,100 for our 4th Annual CASA Kids Golf Classic. Your level of support was deeply appreciated. There were 26 teams and over 150 players this year, the largest group ever. The course and the weather were beautiful.

There are still many, many children who need a volunteer voice to continue speaking up for their rights -- someone to make sure that they are not lost in the silence of an overburdened system. That voice belongs to CASA.

We appreciate your concern and commitment to our community and especially to the most vulnerable population -- the children who are victims of abuse and neglect. Your history over the years of being our first television sponsor for Casas for CASA, sponsoring the CSC Spot Run benefiting CASA for two years, and now supporting our children through the golf tournament this year is all appreciated.

CASA is a 501(c)(3) charitable non-profit organization as designated by IRS. This contribution is tax-deductible to the fullest extent as allowed by law.

Sincerely,

Karen Cox
Executive Director

RE: Austin Cat Fanciers 2003 Charity Cat Show

Dear Mr. Baker:

On behalf of the Austin Cat Fanciers (ACF), I would like to extend our thanks and appreciation for the attention that your organization gave to the 35th Annual Championship and Household Pet Cat Show at Palmer Events Center on April 18-20, 2003. The show drew the largest number of visitors in a number of years. Your organizations' assistance was vital in helping ACF to promote and encourage responsible pet ownership of cats. In addition, a number of new homes were found for pedigreed and adoptable rescued cats.

Once again thank you for your help.

Sincerely,

Dear Danny:

The Capital Area Training Foundation's Board of Directors and staff sincerely appreciate all that you do to promote the Greater Austin @ Work College & Career Fair each year. This year you really outdid yourselves in promoting the CEO Summit and Career Summit, and we say thank you. Rob Cunningham has been a joy to work with and does a quality job. Your continued support marketing our events is greatly appreciated.

YES!!! This was the best year ever and we owe a debt of gratitude to you and your staff for providing such quality product.

We look forward to partnering with you in the future. Have a terrific week.

Sincerely,

Rob,

I just wanted you to know from a parent view how much I appreciated the recognition that was given to Kayla and the other students last night. Fox 7 should be commended in what they do for the youth of Central Texas. It very heart warming as a parent to hear such good things about our children. Also, in my opinion them hearing the things that Danny spoke of is so encouraging. Was the entire ceremony being videoed? I did video, but missed the opening when Danny was speaking. If it was videoed wondered if it would be possible to purchase a copy?

Thanks again,

Karen McCoy

Hi Rob,

I've gotten a few donations, and I think TV WORKS. Thanks so much for the great job you did on the PSA and for getting us on the waves. Big step forward for the Library and the Foundation. I thought the a.m. show was really good, and I enjoyed being behind-the-scenes.

BookPeople's campaign will end this week, so they need to be removed from the web site. Waterloo is still going.

Thanks for all you're doing!

Dear Rob:

Many thanks to you and your colleagues for giving such great visibility to the Keep Austin Reading campaign. TV works! We could see the campaign gain momentum right away when the public service announcements started to air.

This is the first time we've tried Buy One for the Library, and its' a good way to get books onto the shelves during these tough times. The Mayor's Book Club is a wonderful project bringing the whole community together. We really enjoyed working with you. I hope FOX 7 will want to participate again next year.

As you know, the Austin Public Library Foundation works to support and strengthen Austin's libraries. We advocate for increased public funding for the library and alert the community when library services are in jeopardy. We also look for private sources of funding to expand programming at the Austin Public Library, increase access to technology, and contribute to the different collections of books and other materials.

Your support will help us pave the way to an outstanding library for Austin.

Best regards,

Margaret Henkels

Dear Rob:

It is our pleasure to report on Girlstart Summer Camps. Thanks to the generosity of Fox 7, we were able to get the word out to the community about our camps. This summer, Girlstart served 138 girls and more than one third of them received partial or full scholarships, totaling over $13,000!

With the help of companies like Infinity Broadcasting, Girlstart was able to offer two months of fun-filled, week-long camps that explored a variety of math, science, engineering and technology topics.

Also, Girlstart is very proud to announce that our summer camps are receiving national attention. On August 22nd, Girlstart was featured on the Today Show in a segment about innovative summer camps for girls!

Thank you for making these incredible opportunities possible. Your support has made a difference in the lives of girls and families!!!

Dear Danny:

Thank you for supporting United Way Capital Area. I know your time is valuable and United Way could not serve the community without your efforts. It is through your commitment to the community, along with more than more than 3,000 other trained volunteers, tens of thousands individual contributors, more than 400 corporations and government, entities and more than 350 number of nonprofit agencies that makes Central Texas a wonderful place to live.

Through your generosity and caring:

United Way's Community Investments

- Trained 150 community volunteers who approved funding for partner agencies in the critical areas of Children and Families™, Life Basics™, Learning Steps™, Health and Wellness™ and Safe Communities™
- In partnership with 46 organizations positively affected more than 250,000 lives throughout the Central Texas region

2-1-1 Texas (formerly First Call for Help)

- Provided information and referral to 40,332 individuals in South Central Texas needing assistance
- Maintained a community resource database containing more than 3,000 programs that provide health and human services to individuals and families in South Central Texas

The Volunteer Center, a service of United Way Capital Area

- Connected 10,000 groups, families and individuals to volunteer opportunities
- Matched 21,854 donated goods such as computers, office equipment and household items to nonprofit organizations in our community

Included is a certificate of United Way's appreciation on behalf of the community. Thank you again for your leadership and commitment to the Central Texas community.

Sincerely,

Dear Rob;

On behalf of insure•a•kid we want to thank FOX 7 for it's ongoing commitment to insure Central Texas children. Through strong partnerships like yours, insure•a•kid is able to connect so many uninsured Texas families with children's health insurance.

Thanks to FOX's support, the first Children's Health Discovery Day was a huge success. This exciting event at the Austin Children's Museum exceeded our expectations with nearly 1,500 families in attendance! We were pleased to see that the majority of attendants came from our target zip codes in the greater Austin area.

In addition, phone calls to our CHIP-line from uninsured families more than doubled during this year's Back to School campaign.

Your public service announcement creation and promotions for the Children's Health Discovery Day and Back to School Campaign 2003 were invaluable to our efforts and we greatly appreciate your support.

Together we have helped thousands of families access low cost health insurance and are building a healthy future for Texas!

Dear Mr. Cunningham,

The Austin community held its sixth annual Accessibility Internet Rally for Austin (AIR-Austin) this fall, and we couldn't have done it without you! Because of the generosity of the Austin community, including FOX-7's media sponsorship, our goals were achieved. Your support was recognized in the program the training sessions, all events, and in the Austin Chronicle.

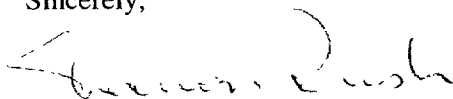

The AIR-Austin program trained nearly 200 technology professionals in design techniques that enable people with disabilities to access web-based information. These technology pros then volunteered their new skills and built web sites for more than two dozen local nonprofit agencies and schools. Participating nonprofits - including the Ronald McDonald House, Texas Audubon, CASA, and many more - serve the health, human service, educational, and environmental needs of tens of thousands of Central Texans. And now people with disabilities can access that information!

Through AIR-Austin, developers gained web skills, nonprofits gained professionally designed web sites, and people with disabilities gained access to web-based information. The AIR program has won national awards for excellence and innovation. All of this is only possible because of your support. Please take a few minutes to look at the results of your generosity by viewing the newly created web sites linked from the AIR-Austin page at www.knowbility.org/AIR-Austin.

People with disabilities want the same things as anyone - the chance to learn, to work, and to earn a high standard of living. Just as wheelchair ramps create access to physical space, we can provide access to the online spaces that allow children and adults with disabilities to fully participate as producers and consumers on the information marketplace. Your generosity has brought that potential closer to reality.

On behalf of people with disabilities who are served by Knowbility's work, I extend my heart-felt thanks for all you do!

Sincerely,
